Backdrop Cuts Audience In Half

The BYU Music Dept. is to be congratulated for the magnificence of its annual Christmas program presented Sunday night in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Though all in attendance must have been impressed and pleased with the polished performance, some will have to be excused if their applause was less than enthusiastic.

For the second eight-stake fire in a row, a grand faux pas was perpetrated vis-a-vis the staging.

For some unknown reason someone in charge of arranging the stage for the Music Dept. extravaganza and for Cleon Skousen's address a month ago saw fit to eliminate half of the seats in the 10,000-capacity fieldhouse.

Those to arrive late to either Festival, were forced to spend many embarrassing moments seeking a place to sit, and many resigned themselves to standing, sitting on a hard, dirty floor or listening to the proceedings from behind the huge backdrops which divided the fieldhouse in half.

Though attractively decorated and perhaps purposeful for the performers and their presentation, their benefit was certainly lost to those who had to sit behind them.

Allowing all who attend to witness the programs would appear to be a prime requisite for the otherwise well-planned and executed Festival.

After all, are not such large-audience programs held in the Fieldhouse in order to accommodate large gatherings (it's certainly not for comfort or acoustical)?

It certainly is not very flattering to those featured on such programs that the planners expect something less than half an audience, especially when the annual Christmas show has in the past attracted many more than were allowed for Sunday.

The Way It Is . . .

Dec. 11, 1968

By Judy Geissler

As usual, money was the main item on the agenda at the Tuesday afternoon session of the ASBYU Executive Council.

The first item discussed was the proposed Professor Roster, a booklet which will contain the professors' evaluations of themselves, their teaching and grading procedures and their backgrounds, etc. V.P. Academics Todd Christofferson asked the Council to allocate $385 publicity and promotion, and asked for a loan of $1100 to help printing costs. He stated the money would be paid back as soon as booklets went on sale towards the end of fall semester.

To illustrate what type of a booklet it would be, Todd passed out completed evaluations of several professors. The one which has stuck my mind is that of Dr. Max Valentine of the Animal Science Dept.

His evaluation indicated that he taught Animal Science 325 (Meat Products), and of the subject, he said, "This course has a lot of meat to it."

Now we'd have never figured that one out by ourselves, would we? The next proposal concerned responsibility for property introduced by Paul Genbo of the ASBYU President's office. It proposed places responsibility for all equipment such as desktop typewriters, etc., issued to the offices on the shoulders of the individual officer. The motion was passed by the Council.

An appropriation of $480 was granted to the BYU Rugby Team to take to the Church College of Hawaii to take on the CCH rugby team. Motion was made by Don Wood, V.P. of Athletics, and passed with support of V.Pres. of Finance Bill Hephworth who had previously opposed the expenditure.

I LEFT MY HEART . . .

That may be a tune sung by most of the members of the Executive Council when they return Sunday from a four-day trip through southern California representing BYU at several universities and colleges throughout the area.

On the tour will be San Francisco State College, the University of California at Berkeley, San Jose State College and Stanford University. The purpose of the trip is many-fold. First and foremost, there great need for goodwill between BYU and the colleges of South California (and the Bay Area, for those who refuse to equate the Bay Area with the South). A San Jose student who spent the last week at B said the main cause of the problems which plagued the BYU-San Jose football game was a simple lack of information at San Jose.

"We want to let the students there get a good look at us, and we want to get a good look at them," said ASBYU President Grant Richards. "This problem of misunderstanding and misinformation has reached such proportions that it's dangerous to let it go any more."

In addition, the officers have worked hard and long this semester, sacrificing the little things we all enjoy, such as a chance to get grades, dinner many times, and other such niceties. They deserve a rest, and I, for one, hope they get it on trip—although with that schedule of visits, I doubt seriously that it will.

UNDERDOG OF THE WEEK

The "Underdog of the Week" participates in student government through the ASBYU President's office—a fairly easy place to get lost in the shuffle. She is Janene McClellan, a general secretary in the office of the President, and is a junior majoring in home economics.

"She is an outstanding secretary," says ASBYU President G. Richards. "I can always count on her for a good job. She's very dependable and a great girl."

Pity the poor news editor who ventures out of his field. John Ayres likes to try his hand at unusual activities. A couple of days ago, he was baking some chocolate chip cookies for an apartment of Riverside (how's that for a switch?) and handed out some samples of handwork to the pals.

They couldn't bring themselves to tell him, but the cookies were bad that the second time he passed the plate around, they all put their cookies back.

And that's THE WAY IT IS, today, on and around the 4th and floors.

PENDING BOARD

What Can We Do To Upgrade Quality Of Teachers?

By Pierre Hathaway

Editor, Sounding Board,

I have contemplated for some time writing to the UNIVERSITY to ask this question—following today's classes I cannot contain myself any longer. Is there anything that we as students can do to improve the quality of some of the instructors here at BYU? I am appalled at a few of the teachers I have had the misfortune of being "stuck" with following registration.

My biggest single complaint unfortunately is aimed at those of the faculty who have attained Ph.D.'s and think that the information they are regurgitating in front of the class is so well organized that any imbecile could digest it and then compile it again on test day. It's sickening that we are required to dole out good money to the Establishment only to have to listen to someone who is supposed to know his stuff run off at the mouth while we struggle in class taking notes on subjects not covered in the text.

With teachers like this I can see why students in many parts of the country are dissatisfied even with the education system to take matters into their own hands. Can we do in a case such as this?

Sincerely,
James Fennimore

RESPONSE

Dear James,

As a student, the best solution is to drop or not sign up in the first place. President Robert K. Thomas indicated in a conversation on the topic that the school is concerned. As you know, there is a faculty evaluation on the campus. You probably didn't know if a faculty member scores in the lower percentages he is required to take a class in teaching methods. This is an effort of the University to upgrade the quality of instruction on the campus.

There is a faculty committee on teaching. Faculty members scoring low on the survey are counseled by this committee.

If the class is too boring you may try having a friend take notes and just go on test days. If, however, the instructor uses attendance as a whip to keep his classes full, this won't work. Well, good luck and thanks for writing.

NATIONAL ANTHEM

Editor:

This afternoon (Monday, Dec. 2) I noticed an interesting, though common, occurrence here in Happy Valley. I was walking south on 4th East at 5 p.m. and was just approaching 6th North when the National Anthem began to play. I stopped and turned towards campus when to my amazement I saw a swarm of students bawling swiftly away from campus. I saw students standing on the steps leading up to campus, and part of the way between 7th and 8th, but many students were NOT.

My first impression was that BYU had a lot of students with car trouble. I then wondered whether or not these students were aware that the song being played symbolizes a great nation founded by persons dedicated to the cause of freedom; that those persons and many others since then have given their lives so we can enjoy the freedoms we now possess.

I realize it was very cold at 5 p.m., but I'll bet Valley Forge was very cold also. I know those men were not standing at attention for the flag of our country—those men were making possible the flag of our country.

PRESERVE FREEDOM

Editor:

Let us remember Pearl Harbor on this, its 77th anniversary.

When our country was attacked, the President, proceeding properly under the Constitution, asked Congress to declare a state of war with Japan. The Constitution specifically provides that such responsibility rests with Congress alone.

We are now in a de facto war with North Vietnam involving over half a million men. It is far from over. No President has the legal right to persecute such a war without authorization from Congress. It was never intended, in our Republic, that one man should have such power of life and death over his fellow-men.

Let us start our crusade for law and order at the top level and uphold the supreme law of the land, which is the U.S. Constitution. Let us insist that the Senate rescind the illegal, open-ended Tonkin Gulf Resolution, and let us insist that the Congress stand up and be counted as to whether a state of war exists with North Vietnam.

And, more important, since we have 43 Messianic treaties pledging our youth and treasure to defend 43 other nations from "aggression," let us make double sure in the future that we are representing all the citizens, assume its Constitutional responsibility for war involvement.

A clear strong voice from our glorious past, perhaps faintly now, still resounds: "... government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Let us see that it doesn't

WHOSE SUGGESTIONS?

Editor:

I would like to reply to some of the recent letters concerning the dress lengths of the fairer gender that grace our campus.

To some of the brethren that are making comments, including the "humorous" treatment in the DAILY UNIVERSE of December 9, I would suggest that they remove their minds from the petted and begin to magnify their priesthood that they so haughtily claim to hold. It must be remembered that not every girl that wears short dresses or skirts is making immoral suggestions to her male observers.

Some of these self-righteous persons on our campus seem to express opinions similar to those of the Pharisees and scribes when they brought the woman taken in adultery before the Lord, smacking of hypocrisy. Following the Lord's admonition to those Biblical "priesthood holders (?) may I suggest: "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her."

May I also point out that maybe those among us who are unable to control our thoughts when a girl in a short skirt or dress walks by are very incapable of magnifying their priesthood by controlling the lust of their finite minds. Must you live the letter of the law, as the Pharisees and scribes; or will you live the spirit of the law, as the Lord teaches?

Young Boosts Faith's 'Seeds'

"I want to plant a seed in your heart," said Devotional speaker Elder S. Dilworth Young as he discussed the example of faith exhibited by individuals associated with the coming forth of the Book of Mormon.

Beginning with the discourse on faith recorded by the prophet Alma, Elder Young of the First Council of Seventy of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, encourages students to "let the seed swell in your heart," so that the gospel truths could be manifest.

Directing attention to the Joseph Smith story, Elder Young emphasized the faith of the Prophet's family to accept the story of the First Vision.

He spoke of Emma Smith's faith to accept all dealings with the coming of the Book of Mormon without seeing the plates.

The testimonies of Oliver Cowdery, Martin Harris and David Whitmer were discussed.

"None of these men ever accused him of lying about the book," said Elder Young.

Elder Young challenged his listeners to "let the seed of faith sprout within your hearts, that it may grow to a full knowledge through the exercise of simple faith."

Planetarium To Focus on 'Christmas Star'

In 1957, it was the first planetarium in Utah. Its audience of about 60 can be seated at one time in a hemispherical structure to the celestial show. A planetarium projector, creates an image of the sky on the inside of the dome.

The picture is a romantic drama of two young lovers caught in the tragic events of 1941-1945. It is portrayed in Russian with English subtitles.

Russian Film To Be Seen

Hoopsters Eye Big Tourney

By Clyde Haack
Universe Sportswriter

Coach Stan Watts and his determined basketball squad take off for the hilly land of San Francisco Thursday hoping to smooth a few hills they have encountered in their first three pre-season games.

In the three contests already played, the Cougars have pleased fans with two sterling performances on the hometown mingles while resting in the valley of defeat in their one encounter on the road.

San Francisco will play host to the Cougars in the opening game of their annual classic and the Cougars are in no mood to play the perfect guest.

The Cougars want to play the same type of ball they have exhibited in their first two wins this season. A tournament win right now will aid them in doing so. The added lure of championship gold and prestige should do the trick.

San Francisco will not play dead, however, and they would like to keep at home the hardware from their own tournament.

1952 RANKLES

The last time BYU met San Francisco on the basketball floor was back in 1952. The Cougars defeated the Dons here at Provo when the Dons sported players like Casey Jones and Bill Russell. San Francisco went on to win the national crown the next year and retain it in 1954.

San Francisco lays claim to another fine team this year. USF will probably start Pete Gross, a fine 6'9" junior center, along with 6'9" JC transfer Craig Farley and 6'5" Rick Schuler at the forward line. Guards will probably be Rich Ames and Dion Kerhoulas.

The Cougars must prepare to meet two other teams in the tournament. Houston and Santa Clara make up the other bracket and either could make it difficult for the BYU hoopsters.

Houston burned the Cougars last year in a game played in Houston, 102-69, and Coach Watts still bristles when the game is mentioned. There is no secret that the coach would like to erase the stinging memory of that defeat.

BIG GUN

... for the "Cougars" of the University of Houston is big Ken Spain. An All-American last year and a star on the winning USA Olympic basketball squad, Spain will lead Houston in the Cable Car Tournament this weekend.

Santa Clara, on the other hand, played the Cougars twice last year and came out of the fray with one win and a loss. Santa Clara won the first, 80-75, but the Cougars clawed back the next night to take a lopsided 91-46 win.

MORE COUGARS

Both Houston, also nicknamed the "Cougars" and the Santa Clara Broncos, are ranked among the nation's top teams. Going into last week's wars, Houston was ranked sixth while pollsters rated the Broncos in the top 20.

Cougar hoops soared with the rejuvenated performances of Karl Limbo and Marty Lythgoe and the Puma hoopsters strike fear into the hearts of many BYU opponents. Limbo crashed out of his slump against Seattle, pouring 29 points through the hoop. Lythgoe added 14 more off a sterling performance, especially in the second half.

Five players dominate the Cougar stats, all scoring in double figures. Paul Ruffner heads the list with a 16.3 average followed closely by Lynn Pansos with 15.0. Reserve center Scott Warner and guard Doug Howard are tied with 13.3 while Karl Limbo's big Saturday effort raised him to a 13.0 mark per game.

Since Coach John Seggar, assistant professor of sociology, took over the coaching reins in the spring of 1967, BYU has established an 18-1-2 record. Coach Seggar comes from London and lived six years in New Zealand, home of the unofficial rugby champions of the world. He was chosen to the all-star rugby team in the Auckland (New Zealand) area.

Rugby is the direct ancestor of American football. When rugby was imported to the United States, the rules were changed and such innovations as the forward pass were introduced.

The scoring in rugby is somewhat different from football. A touchdown (termed a try in rugby) is worth three points instead of six and the ball must be placed on the ground in the end zone.

The converted try, similar to football's point-after-touchdown, in rugby is worth two points. A penalty goal, which occurs after a serious infraction of the rules such as tackling a player without the ball, is worth three points. A drop kick through the goal posts is also worth three points.

Another difference between football and rugby is that play continues until the ball goes out of bounds or an infraction occurs.

The BYU "A" soccer team closed out its fall season with a perfect 9-0 record following weekend victories over Arizona State and Arizona. Coupled with the recent win over Utah, this marks the first time a WAC team has ever beaten three other conference teams in one season.

Two second-half goals by Horst Mastag highlighted the 4-1 win over ASU that opened the four-team tournament. Ralph Wolferts and Robin Egan scored the other tallies against a game but outmanned Sun Devil squad. Gareth Lewis, of Jamaica, netted the only Arizona State goal.

Arizona's Wildcats then blasted Utah, 5-0, to set up Saturday's finale against the Cougars. Arizona was undefeated going into that game. Surinam's Louie Botumwe scored an early fast-break goal to give the Wildcats the lead against BYU. It was the first time all year that the Y had not scored first.

Bill Forrest quickly tied the score, however, and Robin Egan's second goal of the tournament put BYU ahead before halftime. From then on, a great defensive effort led by Cress McTavish, Ed Wolferts, Brad Miller and Manu Vessche-Nouri held the Wildcats at bay.

Carlos Cordova moved up to the line and used his quick footwork to confuse the Arizona defense.

Music At Middy Fri.

Catch the spirit of Christmas this week.

At noon on Friday, the BYU music organizations will join forces in the main gallery of the Harris Fine Arts Center in a program of Christmas music. This traditional Christmas concert will feature BYU musicians at their best.

Surrounded by decorations provided by students of the Art Dept. and a tree with ornaments made by the handicapped children of the Utah Training School, the choruses will sing from all three levels of the gallery, using the fine acoustics of the Fine Arts Center to their fullest.

The Brass Ensemble, directed by Newell Dayley, will provide a stunning opening with a prelude of tower brass music played from the fifth level. The Women's Chorus, conducted by Robert Downs, will feature Louise Pratt on the harp.

Traditional Christmas carols will be sung by A Cappella Choir, directed by Ralph Woodward; University Chorus, directed by Kurt Weinzinger; Saltburg's Women's Ensemble, also directed by Weinzinger; Male Chorus, with Ralph Woodward; and Oratorio Choir, directed by John Halliday.

A unique harp ensemble will play "O Holy Night," and Margaret Woodward will direct the BYU Children's Choir in several Christmas numbers.

The audience will participate by joining in community singing accompanied by the Concert Band directed by Robert Campbell. The Concert Orchestra, directed by Noel Brown, will also be featured.

The noon-hour program will draw to a dramatic close as the combined choruses and concert orchestra fill the Fine Arts Center with the sounds of "Hallelujah," from Handel's "Messiah."

BYU professor emeritus Jacob Bos is coordinator of the program.

BYU Choirs Will Perform

Carols, hymns and 100,000 tiny lights will accent the gala opening of Christmas '68 on Temple Square Friday.

A special feature of the evening will be the premier of "Songfest at Christmas Time on Temple Square."

The Songfest will include special musical numbers by the BYU Symphony and A Cappella Choir as well as several young participants from schools along the Wasatch Front.

According to Dr. Lorin F. Wheelwright, dean of the College of Fine Arts and Communications, BYU was invited by the Temple Square Christmas Lighting Committee to participate in the program, which will comprise over 3,000 youth and will provide one of the largest choruses ever assembled in the Tabernacle.

The program is narrated by Dr. Lad Woodbury of the Speech and Drama Dept. Under the direction of Ralph Laycock, the BYU Symphony will play "Christmas Overture." The A Cappella Choir will render selected carols written by Merrill Bradshaw and will also present an original carol by Dr. Wheelwright entitled "Star Bright."

The choir is directed by Ralph Woodward of the Music Dept. The vocal and symphonic arrangements have been arranged by Larry Bastian.

Dean Wheelwright stated that the program will be taped by Mark Hathaway of KBYU-TV and Durrell Demmick of KSL-TV for later television and radio release across the United States.

The public is invited to attend the program following the official lighting ceremony on Temple Square. Limited seating and overflow crowds will be seated in the Assembly Hall. Doors open at 7:45 p.m. "Songfest at Christmas Time on Temple Square" begins at 8 p.m.

Temple Square is lighted from dusk to 11 p.m. each day of the Christmas season through Jan. 1.

...Soloists Richard Robison, Olga Gardner and director Ralph Woodward review music to be presented in "Sounds of Christmas" concert Saturday.

'Sounds of Christmas' Concert This Saturday

BYU musical personalities will figure prominently in "The Sounds of Christmas—Past and Present," to be presented by the Ralph Woodward Chorus in the Provo Tabernacle Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

Romney Up For Post, State Secretary Told

NEW YORK (AP) — William F. Rogers has been chosen to be secretary of state by President-elect Nixon, it was learned Tuesday, and usually informed sources said Gov. George Romney of Michigan will be secretary of housing and urban development.

The Washington report from reliable sources about Rogers, who was attorney general under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was not confirmed or denied by Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press secretary.

Word of the selection of Romney, who briefly challenged Nixon in the early stages of the Republican presidential nomination race, came from GOP officials in Washington.

URGES HELP

Romney, 61, made a 19-day urban tour during his presidential campaign, and consistently urged more voluntary and self-help programs for the ghettoes.

Rogers, 55, long a close friend of Nixon, has been in private law practice in New York and Washington since leaving the Justice Department. In 1965 he was a U.S. representative to the United Nations.

Nixon announced the appointment of Daniel P. Moynihan, a sometimes controversial scholar of cities in crisis, as his assistant for urban affairs and said that field now will receive the same status and attention as does national security.

NEW COUNCIL

Nixon said he is creating a new White House council patterned on the National Security Council to plan and propose action on urban problems.

Nixon said Moynihan, who is taking a two-year leave from his post at the Harvard University Center for Urban Studies, is one of the nation's outstanding specialists in his field.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Their own passions showing through, Supreme Court justices considered Tuesday whether limits have to be put on unpopular demonstrators because they inflame the emotions of their fellow citizens.

A major free speech question was posed in an appeal by Dick Gregory, Negro comedian and writer, who led 65 to 70 people to the home of Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago in the summer of 1965 seeking the ouster of the City of Chicago, urged the justices to encourage people to use demonstrators to take their grievances to the streets.

Indeed, Patner argued, the police bear a responsibility of protecting them from physical threats—that the kind of hecklers who on other occasions showed down Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Sen. Edward M. Brooke, D-Mass., and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman should be subject to arrest.

In contrast, Raymond F. Simon, corporation counsel for the City of Chicago, urged the justices to encourage people to use their judgment to head off "incipient riots."

No freedom is secure in a society with disorder, city officials said.

Justice Hugo L. Black, who has challenged the notion that people have an unlimited right to travel up and down the streets by thousands, joined with Patner to overrule minutes, carrying a lawyer beyond his allotted time.

He asked rhetorically: "If a state without power to regulate the use of its streets?"
